IN BLOODY FIGHT WOLGAST DEFEATS BATTILING NELSON

forced the fighting, landing right and left on the jaw and face. Wolgast, maddened, fought back fiercely, landing several powerful blows on the champion's jaw and nose. It was an even round.

Round 2—Nelson started the round with a left smash to the face, and forced his man against the ropes. Wolgast swung twice with powerful lefts to the face and right, and left to the jaw at close range. Nelson's lips bled slightly. Both exchanged rights and lefts to the face. A right from Wolgast made a cut under Nelson's right eye that bled slightly. Nelson took the fighting to his opponent, but was met with two hard lefts to the stomach and a right to the jaw. Wolgast had a shade the better of the round.

Round 3—Wolgast shot in three straight lefts to the face. Nelson was backing him with a right swing fairly on the jaw. Wolgast smiled, and they mixed it against the ropes. Nelson brought the blood from Wolgast's nose, crossing him with a vicious right. After some wrestling Nelson forced his man against the ropes, but Wolgast covered up and smothered neatly. Nelson was doing the majority of the work, and both men showed up considerably. The round was even.

Round 4—Nelson piled on top of his man, and the Milwaukeean fought back fiercely. Nelson staggered Wolgast with a left uppercut to the jaw at close range. Wolgast's right landing on the stomach and his left landing on Nelson's jaw, as he took his seat. Both men bled from nostrils at the close of the round, which was even.

Furious Exchange of Blows.
Round 5—Nelson forced his man around the ring, and delivered a telling right smash to the jaw, to which Wolgast responded in kind, lifting Nelson in the air. They went at it like a pair of bull terriers, and both men were cautioned for fouling. The round ended in a furious exchange, Wolgast having the better of it.

Round 6—Wolgast talked to his seconds as Nelson battered away at him. After Wolgast had landed two rights to the jaw and a left swing to the same place, Nelson closed in, and exchanged a short arm right and lefts to the head followed. Nelson swung a hard right to the jaw, which the Battling Nelson duplicated at once. Wolgast backed into his own corner and scored on the stomach with a tremendous left that sent the crowd howling. A moment later he sent in another to the same place. The round closed with the honors in favor of Wolgast.

Round 7—Nelson appeared to have slowed down a bit. Wolgast swung two lefts to the face, and a midrange right followed. Nelson landed a right and left swings to the head. Wolgast met the oncoming Battling with two upper left cuts to the jaw, and an instant later swung twice with right to the face and left to the body, meanwhile covering up cleverly. Nelson sent Wolgast almost through the ropes with a left smash to the jaw. They mixed it in the center of the ring, Wolgast bringing a fresh stream of blood from the champion's face. As the bell rang Nelson swung a hard right over the heart. The round was fairly even.

Round 8—Nelson rushed in, planting his right solidly on the jaw. He forced the pace, but was met with a straight right and left to the face. Nelson never flinched, however, and kept Wolgast constantly at work covering. Nelson started the blood flowing from his man's nostrils, as he chased him about the ring, landing several times with the right and left to the face. Wolgast sought a haven against the ropes, with Nelson cupping his hands under his chin, and landed tired at this stage of the contest, and his blows seemed to have lost some of their sting. The round closed with Nelson enjoying a good lead.

Each Lands Telling Blows.
Round 9—Wolgast broke ground before the Battling ever and anon, trying to reach Nelson with right and left to the stomach. Finally they mixed it, fighting at a furious clip, each landing on the face and jaw. One mix was a repetition of the other. Nelson fought forcing his man back, and Wolgast trying hard to stop the pace-maker. Wolgast uppercut to the jaw, with his left, and a moment later cut open Nelson's ear with a right swing. Nelson danced to his corner with the blood streaming from his injured ear. Nelson had a shade the best of it.

Round 10—Nelson forced the pace, constantly backing his opponent against the ropes. Wolgast, in a corner, got back fiercely, but the champion was not to be stopped. Time and again Wolgast landed, but Nelson never flinched. Wolgast peppered the champion's face with left and right, and finally crossed with a terrific left to the jaw. Nelson never wince, all the time compelling Wolgast to step back against the ropes. Nelson again danced to his corner at the sound of the bell.

Round 11—Wolgast outboxed the champion, but could not make him break ground. Nelson merely waved his hand, mindful of the constant tattoo that Wolgast beat against his face and jaw with short arm hooks and jolts. Wolgast swung right and left to the jaw. The bell ended the round with Wolgast hammering away at Nelson's jaw and face, landing almost at will. Nelson's face was a mass of blood as he took his seat, with the honors of the round against him.

Round 12—Wolgast was cautioned to get by the referee. Nelson forced his man with several hard, left swings on the jaw. Nelson apparently was determined to tire the Milwaukeean out, but meanwhile he received fearful punishment. Wolgast, flying with right and left with almost pendulum precision, seemed to gain confidence as the men fought. He headed against the ropes, Wolgast never let up, and again started the blood flowing from Nelson's face, with series of right and left punches.

Men Fight Like Tigers.
Round 13—As the men toed the mark, Nelson's line were puffed and the crowd was on its feet. They mixed like tigers, Wolgast landing repeatedly on the body and jaw, with Nelson fighting wildly and spitting blood. Wolgast literally cut the Battling's face to ribbons, but still the Dane came on for more. Nelson wrestled his man against the ropes, Wolgast covering up. There was a temporary lull in the battle, after which Wolgast swung right and left to the body. "The worst of the round," said old-time ring followers, as Nelson's seconds worked over his damaged face during the minute's respite at the end of the round.

Round 14—Wolgast looked much the fresher as they came up. He flung his right hard to the face, and followed with left and right to the face. Nelson's face was badly swollen. Wolgast fought fiercely, taking the fight to the Battling. Nelson almost forced Wolgast through the ropes, and then assisted him to the center of the ring. Wolgast smiled, and shook the champion's hand warmly. Wolgast then hooked his left twice in quick succession to the jaw, and followed with a straight right to the face. The bell ended a rather tame round.

Round 15—Betting now even. They mixed away ineffectively at one another, both displaying more caution than in any previous round. Nelson then wrestled his man about the ring, only to be rewarded with a left uppercut on the nose mouth. Nelson, out-pointed badly, continued to force the pace, all the while the target for Wolgast's well-timed swings. Nelson

Round 16—Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 18—Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

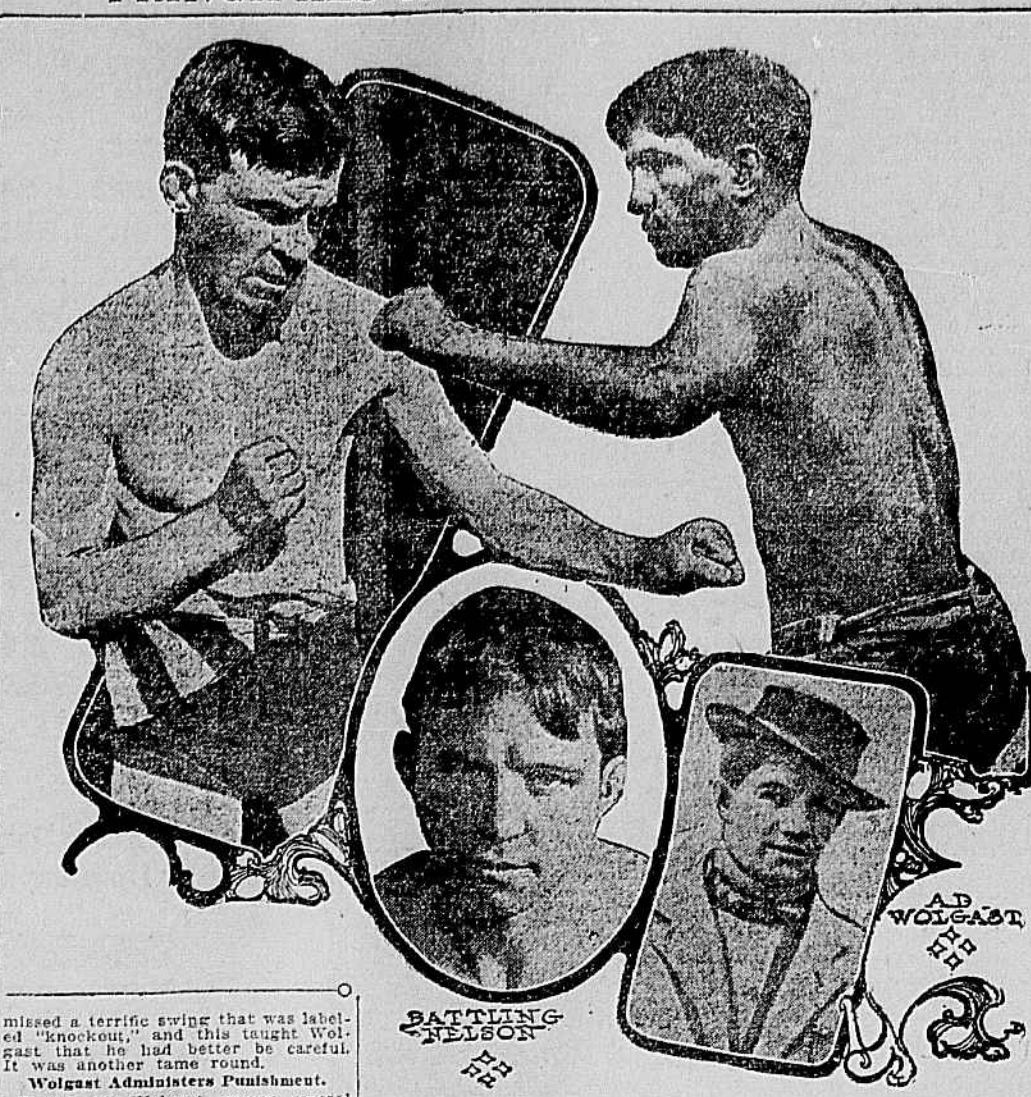

Round 19—Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 20—Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 21—Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 22—Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

PRINCIPALS IN BATTLE YESTERDAY

missed a terrific swing that was labeled "knockout," and this taught Wolgast that he had better be careful. It was another tame round.

Wolgast Administers Punishment.
Round 16—Wolgast swung several times over the Dane's head, and they roughed it, Nelson receiving the lion's share of the punishment. Wolgast kept pegging away with right and left to the jaw, and finally a tremendous drive caught Nelson's jaw. Nelson never wavered, but closed in, exchanging punches for punches. Nelson swung right and left to the body, and forced his antagonist against the ropes, landing several times with right and left on the jaw. Nelson went to his seat dancing.

Round 17—Wolgast backed away, Nelson throwing himself at him with great vim. Wolgast met the onslaught with right and left swings to the body. Nelson fought hard and never stopped. Finally Wolgast swung a terrific right to the jaw, and then shot in a half-dozen right swings over the champion's sore ear. Nelson received a hard left upper cut on the jaw, causing the blood to flow freely. The men fought every inch of the way.

Round 18—"How do you feel?" asked Nelson as the men came up. "As if we were punching a bag," was the quick rejoinder of Wolgast, with which he waded in, landing right and left on Nelson's nose and jaw. Nelson was up in a jiffy. He covered up, with Nelson battering away at him, but failing to land. Wolgast apparently staggered the champion, sending in several vicious right swings to the jaw. Wolgast deliberately butted the champion's nose, and the crowd roared. Rebutted by Referee Smith. The crowd hissed, and the round ended without damage.

Round 19—"The men came up almost as fresh as at the beginning. Wolgast time and again jabbed his left to the face, Nelson fighting back fiercely, but ineffectively. They battled about the ring, Nelson all the time the aggressor and never relenting and Wolgast slowly breaking ground left and right to the face and jaw with short-arm jolts. Wolgast staggered the champion with a succession of powerful right swings to the jaw, and the round ended he tripped to his seat. One round was practically a repetition of the last.

Round 20—"They slugged and roughed it from one end of the ring to the other. It was the same old story, Nelson forcing the pace, and Wolgast meeting him with a succession of powerful right swings to the jaw, and the round ended he tripped to his seat. One round was practically a repetition of the last.

Round 21—"Nelson opened the round with a vicious right to the jaw, and Wolgast sought refuge in a clinch. Nelson then planted right and left on the jaw, and Wolgast almost backed to the ropes. They mixed it to the center of the ring, Wolgast landing damage, and then exchanged rights to the face. Wolgast swung a hard right to the jaw, Nelson countering with a right cross to the same place. The bell ended a round of tame milling.

Falls to Land Knockout Blow.
Round 22—"Nelson staggered his antagonist with a clean right drive to the stomach. He followed his advantage, landing right and left to the jaw and body. A right swing sent Wolgast to his haunches. He was up quickly, but staggered about the ring, and both swung fiercely at each other. Nelson tried with all his might for a knockout blow, but failed. Wolgast's seconds gave him whiskey as he took his seat. It was all Nelson's round.

Round 23—"Nelson went right after his man, and Wolgast fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 24—"Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 25—"Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

Round 26—"Wolgast came up fresher, and Nelson fought back gamely. He swung twice to the Battling's jaw with right, and then a hard right to the face. Wolgast landed both landing telling punches. Nelson appeared to be much the stronger of the two. He shot his left hard to the jaw. Wolgast retaliated with a left swing to the jaw. Nelson tried for a knockout, but Wolgast covered up cleverly, and closed into a clinch. The round ended without much excitement.

the face. Nelson's left eye was almost entirely closed at this stage. Wolgast clipped Nelson solidly on the jaw with his right, and the spectators cheered. Wolgast closed in and played for the Dane's body, but his efforts were blocked, and Nelson broke it up with a stinging right to the face. It was Wolgast's round.

Round 23—"Nelson came up with his left cheek badly swollen. They fought at a hot pace, locked in each other's embrace, and were cautioned to break. Breaking, Wolgast swung twice with right on Nelson's sore face at the close range, swung left and right to Nelson's mouth, starting the blood. They slowed up considerably, and frequently fought to a clinch. Nelson went to his corner on a trot. No damage.

Round 24—"Wolgast rushed in, grabbed Nelson with one arm, and roughly to land on the body with the other. He finally landed several swings over the kidneys, and twice shot his left to the face. Nelson unbalanced, left arm caught, Wolgast over the heart, and the latter winced and groaned. Nelson caught his man straight on the jaw, as they rushed to close quarters, and then followed a succession of clinches. Breaking they exchanged terrific left swings to the jaw, and then fought to another clinch, in which position they were at the close of the round.

Round 25—"As the men came up for this round, Nelson's left eye was completely closed. The men roughed it, Nelson hitting rather low. The crowd yelled its disapproval. At close quarters, Wolgast drove right and left repeatedly in the stomach, and Nelson covered up. Nelson then swung a terrific right to the jaw and missed two similar blows. Wolgast swung a right to the jaw, and the champion broke ground for an instant. Nelson ended the round with a right smash to the chin.

Round 26—"Nelson trotted to the center of the ring, and Wolgast landed several short arm jolts to the stomach, following them with a right swing to the chest. Nelson fought more carefully. Wolgast swung a hard right to the sore cheek, after which both rested in a clinch. Breaking, Wolgast landed a right to the jaw, and he danced away as the Dane rushed after him. Wolgast had the advantage of the round.

Round 27—"The men came up slowly, and immediately closed in, volleying at each other's stomachs, with Wolgast landing frequently. Suddenly Wolgast swung his right, catching Nelson flush on the mouth, and a stung, he staggered away. Nelson presented a sorry appearance, as the blood covered him from head to foot. The round ended in Wolgast's favor. He no longer seems to mix it with the champion, and appeared to gain confidence as the battle progressed.

Round 28—"In a clinch, Wolgast drove three rights to the stomach and with his left peppered away at Nelson's damaged eye. Wolgast then swung two rights to the same place, and Nelson was half-blinded. His blows were wild, and he found it difficult to locate the Milwaukeean lad. They mixed it, and Wolgast planted two hard rights full in the stomach, and Nelson clinched. Nelson could see with one eye only, the other being out of commission. It was all Wolgast's round. Nelson's seconds were feeble.

Round 29—"Both came up quickly, and had to be pried from a clinch. Bets were offered at even, at this stage, with both Nelson and Wolgast. Wolgast peppered the Battling's sore face and varied this with right and left short-arm rips to the stomach. Nelson seemed to have lost his chin, and Nelson made any determined effort to land. The men closed in, and Wolgast started blood spouting from the champion's mouth with two well-directed rights. Wolgast's round.

Round 30—"Nelson was a sight as he came to the center of the ring. All seemed to have gone out of him, and although he forced matters, his energies were devoted to stopping the hand of his adversary. Wolgast started his arms going in whirlwind fashion, landing without return on the Dane's stomach. Wolgast staggered the champion with a terrific left swing to the jaw, and Nelson appeared to be going to pieces gradually. Wolgast smashed with his right, and had the champion groaning from a succession of rights and lefts to the jaw. The bell rang in the nick of time, saving the champion from what looked like certain defeat.

Round 31—"Wolgast took no chances, apparently fearing that the champion was faking weakness. Wolgast jarred Nelson with three right punches to the jaw, and Nelson could hardly come back. They met in mid-ring, with Nelson swinging like a babe, and Wolgast landing with good and clean punches. Nelson's ability to stem the tide was a wonderful exhibition. Wolgast almost sent the champion through the ropes with a right smash to the jaw. Nelson tottered about the ring helplessly, and Wolgast sent in smash upon smash, and the bell rang, saving Nelson from a knockout.

Champion a Pitiful Sight.
Round 32—"Nelson was a pitiful sight as he staggered to the center of the ring. Wolgast appeared to be in no hurry to complete his work. Robinson at this stage tried to throw up the
